Campus Library

From Fabeckstraße, cross the forecourt and enter L-Straße through a large door on the right.

Site Map

Walk along L Street until you reach the library entrance. The entrance is on the right.

The library can be accessed through either the revolving door or the automatic entrance door. The push button for the automatic door is located to the left of the entrance.

Before entering the library, please store coats, bags, and other personal belongings in one of the lockers located immediately to the left of the entrance. You may bring books, study materials, electronic devices, and sealed drinks into the library. Transparent bags are also permitted.

To use a locker, you'll need a MensaCard, Campuscard, or transponder. Before using a card or transponder for the first time, it must be activated at the information terminal. If you forget your locker number, you can also look it up there at any time.

The security gates help protect the library's collection. After passing through them, you can enter either the New Building on your right (green carpet) or the Original Building on your left (red carpet).
Continuing straight ahead will take you to the Circulation Desk and Information Desk.

At the Circulation Desk, you can borrow, return, renew, or collect reserved books. To borrow library materials, you'll need either your Campuscard or your library card.

If you have any questions, our staff will be happy to help.

Primo of Things

You can borrow your books either at the Circulation Desk or by using one of the self-checkout machines. To use a self-checkout machine, you'll need your Campuscard. Your PIN is the postal code you provided when you enrolled at Freie Universität Berlin.

Our public computers are available for searching books, journals, and other library resources. They are freely accessible and do not require a login.
Once you have found the book you are looking for, note down its location and call number, and take the book off the shelf.
